CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

CHAIRMAN'S WELCOME ADDRESS AT THE 7TH TOWN HALL MEETING ON SECURITY WITH THE GOVERNOR

Vour Excellency, Distinguished Ladies and Gentlemen, It is my pleasure to welcome you all to the 7th Town Hall Meeting on Security with the Governor, His Excellency Babatunde Raji Fashola, SAN.

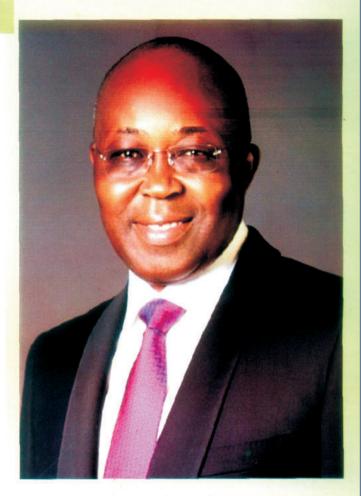

As always, I cannot but start this address by expressing my deep gratitude to all our donors for standing by the Fund in the past seven years. Together we have shown a quite remarkable commitment and resilience, in the face of sometimes daunting challenges, in sustaining the partnership for a safer Lagos. On behalf of the Lagos State Government and Board of the Fund, please accept our sincere appreciation.

I must also say that members of the Board of the Fund and I feel quite fulfilled to have contributed in our little way to the general security of our dear state. Indeed it has been a pleasure working with them.

The Executive Secretary of the Fund would in his report, as usual, give you the finer details of the activities of the Fund within the last year especially regarding the provision of logistics and working tools for the police and other security agencies in the state, and other critical management roles we have played, so I will not need to belabor you with that at this point.

Today you shall also hear from the Commissioner of Police about the efforts of his command in confronting some of those threats that caused us great concern not too long ago and what plans the police has for the coming holiday season and into 2014. His Excellency the Governor will also be sharing some of his thoughts and the direction of his government on security matters with you.

We have stated in the past, and state here again today, that the Fund will continue to play a significant role in our collective wellbeing, to the extent that it remains the most significant institution partnering with the police and other agencies to enable them, within the limits of their all too obvious constraints, to carry out their mandate of providing law, order and relative safety.

The Trust Fund, let me remind you, is the institutional vehicle through which private and corporate organizations, individuals, social, professional and religious associations, the Nigerian Ports Authority, the Lagos State Government, and the local governments/local council development areas, have continued to provide a significant number of assets for the police and other security agencies in the state. This has greatly enhanced the visibility and efficiency of these security agencies.

A substantial part of the contributions of the Fund have of course been in the area where agencies have been most under-resourced, that is in the area of vehicles and their maintenance. Indeed I make bold to say that up to 80% of operational vehicles in use by security agencies in Lagos State are available to them courtesy of the Fund. Let me again provide another reminder: Since the inception of the Fund, 700 vehicles have been contributed to Lagos State's security architecture, and this is due to the selfless efforts of the individuals and entities that I mentioned earlier.

But we are far from the ideal. While London and New York make do with 8000 police vehicles each, we struggle with 400 to cover a vast heaving metropolis of double the population of these two places, barely a tenth of that number, but we are certainly much better off than we were in the not too distant past when the Lagos State Police Command could barely boast of 50 functioning vehicles and there was no system in place for their maintenance, repair or replacement.

Ladies and gentlemen, funding is the major element of security, and 400 vehicles spread across the various agencies is far from the minimum complement required to confront the kind of challenges we face, although much improved through our efforts. No matter how well trained or competent security agents are, without proper equipment they can do very little. It is our hope that one day we will be able to match our security infrastructure with those of other world cities with well funded police forces. However, only the federal government has the constitutional mandate and the financial wherewithal if it gets its priorities right, to achieve this goal. But is that likely soon?

Two years ago, at the 5th Town Hall meeting on Security, I had mentioned that our country was being confronted with unique challenges that have greatly compromised our internal security and have understandably distracted the Federal Government from focusing on regular law enforcement concerns of the country. It is my opinion, and I stand to be corrected, that the situation has clearly not changed in any substantive manner.

Therefore we are essentially on our own in terms of our own local challenges, and it is therefore our responsibility as good citizens and stakeholders of Lagos State to do as much as we can to improve the conditions under which the security agents operating in our state deter, track down, confront and arrest criminals, so that our social and business lives can prosper. Since there is no viable alternative at the moment we must all collectively reaffirm our commitment to keeping the Fund enabled to continue to perform its very critical role.

Ladies and gentlemen, at this point we should pause and review just how much we have been able to collectively achieve in the past 7 years and try to imagine how things would have been without our efforts. First of all, we are still in business when many such similar enterprises have either collapsed or stalled. Second, we have been able in this period to pool together near y 12 billion in cash and assets to supplement security, and all of it accounted for. This, along with the other reasons I have given, should spur us to do more. We cannot even afford to do nothing. So, as you settle down to listen to the detailed activities of the Fund in the last one year and the update on the security situation in our dear state, please start to visualize the type of security you desire for our state and how you are going to assist the state in achieving it.

In conclusion, I welcome you once more to this annual event. To our current donors, I am assured of your continued support. For those of you attending for the first time or yet to donate, I hope that at the end of proceedings today you will be informed enough about the reality of our situation to commit to supporting the Fund to our collective benefit.

Thank you once again for your attendance and in anticipation of your future contributions.

REMI MAKANJUOLA, Chairman, Board of Trustees,

Lagos State Security Trust Fund.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

SPEECH BY HIS EXCELLENCY
BABATUNDE RAJI FASHOLA SAN,
GOVERNOR OF LAGOS STATE AT THE SEVENTH TOWN HALL MEETING ON SECURITY, HELD ON THE 28TH NOVEMBER 2013 AT THE CIVIC CENTRE,
VICTORIA ISLAND LAGOS.

Protocols, Distinguished Ladies and gentlemen, ur meeting today is significant because it is the seventh annual meeting at which I will be speaking to you on security and law enforcement, predicated on our seven-year-old collective resolve to confront the security challenges that we are now faced with on a daily basis.

It is significant because in most cultures, seven is regarded as a special and lucky number; similarly we all know that once a child-reaches the age of seven, he or she has weathered the challenges of childhood diseases and early fragilities, and most parents begin to plan for the child's future.

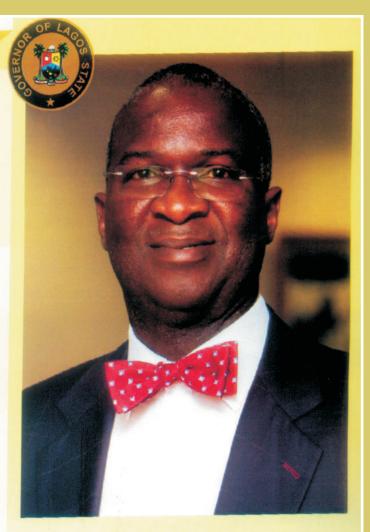

So it is with us today, we have together weathered our early challenges and seven years on we are ready to confront the future.

You have heard from the Executive Secretary the details of the federal budget that indicates an absolute unrealism in Abuja about the true challenges of securing Lagos - the nation's acknowledged commercial capital - and the actual and realistic amount of resources required by the numerous security and law enforcement agencies to face the growing challenges across the country.

The upshot of Abuja's failure to confront reality is that we have to continue, as we have for the past seven years, to bear the burden of that neglect, for there is no indication whatsoever that anything will change soon, in spite of endless reform deliberations and proposals and promises.

This is the bitter truth.

The Commissioner of Police has also given you a report on the security situation in Lagos. His report has highlighted some of the work done by the police to protect us from people who do not wish us well.

By virtue of my chairmanship of the State Security Council, Lam aware of the security challenges in our state.

At the level of the Lagos State Security Council, we constantly develop and review strategies which, with the cooperation of all security agencies, have been able to nip in the bud situations that might have had devastating consequences.

What I can tell you with certainty, is that your safety and security remain the most important responsibility of our Government,

Apart from preventing and foiling bank robberies, we have aborted a major bomb plot by terrorists, we have broken the backs of the vicious kidnapping gangs and we have continued to carry out pre-emptive joint raids of known black spots and criminal hideouts.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

Unfortunately, like in every society not all the criminals have changed their ways and they continue to test our resolve.

As I have said time and time again, crime is a business and so we must collectively continue to outspend and outthink them and make it exceedingly difficult for them to succeed with their evil designs.

And when they do succeed, as they sometimes will, there must be that fear that they would ultimately be arrested and made to face the law.

Indeed, that is the growing reputation of Lagos based

Last year when I addressed you, I gave you an indication of the amount it would cost to patrol and police 9000 streets in Lagos.

To buy the cars alone would cost at leastN45 Billion at about N5 Million each, and to fuel them with only 20 litres of petrol per day, which is not enough to keep them on the road for 24 hours, will cost N1,940 per car per day, and N17,460,000 per day for all 9,000 cars and N6,372,900,000 for the year.

Cities like London and New York have about 8,000 vehicles on patrol so our estimate of 9,000 is not far-fetched.

In order to achieve this, we are looking at over N51 Billion for the first year, which is made up of N45 Billion purchase price and N6.3 Billion fuelling price.

Currently, we do not have such resources either from our direct government spending on security or from the support that you the citizens give through the Security Trust Fund.

Nevertheless, we have not been overcome by the size of the undertaking. We see it, as I said last year, as an elephant.

security and law enforcement agencies amongst the criminal community.

However, our investments are yielding results.

Our crime database now has a record content of 92,488 which helps us to keep track of all those who have been arrested, prosecuted, jailed or have any contact with the criminal justice system.

We are preparing for a future of crime prevention that is technologically driven, scientifically grounded and result assured. We will therefore approach it as one that must be taken in bite sized chunks.

So we propose to provide 100 more patrol vehicles to the Rapid Response Squad which is responsible for reacting to violent crimes.

In addition, we wish to support all the 13 Area Commands and 106 Division Police Stations in our state with three vehicles each.

This will give us at least 357 new vehicles on patrol which is a far cry from 9,000 vehicles.

"What I can tell you with certainty, is that your safety and security remain the most important responsibility of our Government."

The tentative costs of this critical intervention, including vehicle purchase, communication equipment, branding, servicing and refuelling for one year is about N2.3 billion.

While these will help our crime prevention strategy, they will not deter all crimes.

We understand that while security systems must get it right all the time, criminals need to get it right only once.

So the measure of our success has not always been the number of times we got it right, it has been the occasional times that the criminals got ahead of us.

Therefore, we are now working with International partners to develop crime scene management and evidence gathering capacity.

This will ensure that when criminals successfully commit crimes, we are able to gather evidence that not only helps to track them down, but also one that will be useful to prosecute and punish them.

This is important because, at the moment, most of our convictions are secured by confessions of the criminals themselves; and where this has been lacking, convictions and punishments have been difficult to secure.

So our plan is to train as many officers as possible in evidence gathering, crime scene management and proper documentation that will stand up to scrutiny in Court.

Distinguished ladies and gentlemen, our plans are detailed, our dreams are big, but our resources are limited.

However, no matter how little your contribution is to the fund, it will always inspire us to continue this journey to rid our community of criminals.

Therefore, while I urge those of you who have not yet contributed to the fund to kindly do so, I must express our very profound gratitude to those who have become persuaded to do so and who have done so year after year.

Let me conclude by assuring you all that our state is safe, and by urging you to be safety and security conscious.

As the end of year festive season beckons, let me remind you that there are a few people amongst us who seek to reap where they did not sow.

Your vigilance, your peaceful co-existence and your sense of moderation in festivity will be the biggest security shields that will protect you from them.

wish you all a Merry Christmas and a very prosperous year 2014.

Eko oni Baje O!

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY'S REPORT

INTRODUCTION

y task this morning is to give you as concise an account as possible of the activities of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund since the last town hall meeting, just over a year ago, on the 4th of December 2012.

We are all witness to the fact that nationwide, security has remained a top-drawer issue, and it has manifested itself in many violent forms - armed robbery, kidnapping, terrorism, cult-related murders, public disorder, street crime and extortion, highway robberies, piracy, oil theft, and so on. This is the reality, and we must not run away from it. To do so will be placing us in a state of denial. We are in fact compelled to confront this reality in the best way we can, and thus the theme for this year's meeting: "Sustaining local responses to rising national security challenges".

ESTABLISHMENT AND PURPOSE OF THE TRUST FUND

The role of the Trust Fund, established in 2007 by Governor Fashola, supported by your immense efforts and those of the Lagos State Government and the local governments and LCDAs, has been to, as much as possible, intervene where indicated to support the various agencies mentioned by the Chairman, to carry out their mandate to the best of their abilities, especially given their limitations, both human and logistical. These limitations which compelled the Governor to intervene are due, in the main, to the yawning, ongoing and over three decade long capacity and budgetary deficit between the real needs of the police and other federal law enforcement, intelligence and security agencies, and the lack of critical input in proper planning and proper assessment of the effort, men and logistics required to establish law and order and protect lives and property in this teeming, very densely populated and urbanised mega polis of over three hundred separate towns and communities. And this yawning gulf does not look as if it will be addressed in the near future, if ever, though we are consistently told that there are various proposals and plans in the pipeline.

It is by no means a perfect solution, nor was the Fund established to address all of the security requirements of the state, in short, to take over the financial obligations of the federal government. Those backed-up obligations are humongous, and that would be expecting too much and asking too much. But it is a critical intervention mechanism that enables us, as will be illustrated soon, to ensure that the security system retains a reasonable level of operability and pro-activeness.

We have been quite privileged to remain an on-going joint-concern after almost seven years, in spite of the vicissitudes of an uncertain economic and social climate, and I want to thank all those who have committed to the cause over this period. Trust has been the operative word and it is due to your efforts based on the maintenance of that trust that there is a widely acknowledged relative state of safety in Lagos, and why the mother city continues to be the first choice for investment and the first port of call for international brands. And why, of course, more people enter than leave

We cannot afford to relent in our collective efforts of seeking local solutions to a national problem in line with the theme of today's meeting, because, as has always been the case throughout human history, criminals, being opportunists, will always test the will of the larger society. Indeed, criminals are like the trays in a cafeteria: when you pick one up, there is, almost invariably, another one under it.

The list of donors is at page 48 of the report, and though every donation is as important as the other, especially in terms of buy-in, I would like to particularly mention the continuing donation from schools and the continued donation by school children into our donation boxes.

LAGOS STATE SECURITY ARCHITECTURE AND FINANCIAL CONSTRAINTS

To dimension the issue critically, Lagos is policed in the main by the Lagos State Police Command under the Commissioner of Police, whose remit covers the command headquarters, with its own operational arms like Ops Attack, SARS and SIB; then there is the State Criminal Investigation Division, 106 police divisions spread across the state, 15 area commands, and a number of police posts. In addition we have the Marine Police, five Mopol divisions and the Counter-terrorism unit. Then you have the so-called federal commands -the Airport, Ports and Railway commands along with Fed SARS and the FCID Alagbon.

It might astonish you to note that this year, Abuja provided only 3 vehicles to the State police command, ostensibly to serve all the area commands and divisions listed above, but this should not be surprising considering that only N475,000,000.00 was budgeted for vehicles for the whole police force in 2013. Hilux or Ford pick-ups being the preferred model at about 5 million a pop means that the national police budget provided for less than 100 patrol vehicles for 370,000 men, 37 state/FCT commands comprising over 2000 divisions and scores of other commands and specialist units. And yet mobility is such a critical aspect of law-enforcement and security. We have not talked about trucks for moving men en-masse when the situation requires, APCs needed to confront increasingly well armed and violent felons and motorcycles.

This, Ladies and Gentlemen, is the reality we face, a N311 billion budget of which N293 billion is for personnel costs. This leaves just N8 billion for overheads and N10 billion for capital expenditure. Is it any wonder then that we do not have the kind of police force we desire?

Well, be that as it may, we have been compelled to be resourceful in Lagos state, and we must stay the course because this is where we live and carry on our business and our family and social lives, and we are the socio- economic and cultural hub of Nigeria. the land of opportunity for millions of citizens, guite a few with bad intentions, but most who just want to make an honest living. We are, in fact, Nigeria's shock-absorber, and the impact of any untoward event in other parts of Nigeria is always felt and absorbed here in Lagos. The stress on the state and its structures, as well as on its institutions, officials and security agents is unending. Sometimes we talk glibly of 'government' forgetting that it is made up of human beings who, like all of us, have their human frailties and their limits.

Backing the police structure mentioned earlier are the SSS, the combined army, air force and navy crime-prevention units- OP MESA and the army Quick Reaction Group, and sundry other agencies like the NDLEA, the NCDSC, the prisons, immigration and the FRSC. All of these federal agencies, excluding the FRSC, have made requests of the Fund for support, usually in the area of vehicles, but also for maintenance and repairs, tires, hand-held metal detectors and under-vehicle-body mirrors (to improve screening security in the prisons where some terrorist suspects are being held), replacement and rehabilitation of communications systems including towers and repeaters, generators; medications and the like.

Nearly all of these federal agencies have been supported by the fund one way or the other in critical areas over the last seven years, and this underlines two main things: 1, that all these agencies are seriously under-resourced, and 2, that the pressure on your Trust Fund never, ever lets up. On hearing all this you would be entitled to ask what exactly the federal government does with its budgetary allocations and its 52% of national revenue that compels states, corporations and individuals to continue to subsidise its activities.

FUND ACTIVITIES SINCE DECEMBER 2012 TOWN HALL MEETING

Since our last meeting, we have distributed 41 vehicles directly from Fund assets, and these went to plug gaps and add capacity to a diverse range of law enforcement and security agencies: the Abattoir Police Division; Maroko Division; Alagbado Division; Meiran Division; Area H Ogudu; Lion Buildings Division; Ajah Division; Alausa Division; the Lagos State Police Command Hq; Mopol 43 (covering the fee trade zone and environs); SARS; SIB; the RRS; Airport Command; the SSS; the Counter Terrorism Unit of the NPF; Nigerian Army 9 Brigade (QRG % OP MESA); the Nigerian Air force (OP MESA); the NDLEA; and the SFU.

The donation of vehicles to the SIB and SARS was significant because it followed on these two specialist agencies, along with the SSS, being designated the cutting edge of the anti-kidnapping strategies developed at the security council meetings and gave these agencies need mobility and reach. The Commissioner of Police will give you the details of their operations and successes, but it is heartening to note that because of their combined efforts, kidnapping has been largely curtailed, except of course where, for instance, fathers arrange the 'kidnap' of their own offspring in order to extort money from friends and church and mosque members.

When the Lagos State Security Council concluded that illegal drug use was a significant contributor to violent crime and resolved that there should be stronger cooperation with the NDLEA, the Trust Fund stepped in to provide vehicular support. These instances illustrate the critical role of the Fund as essentially an intervention agency that keeps the heart of the security machine ticking, an agency that steps in quickly when there are critical and immediate needs, without being slowed down by bureaucracy.

Distinguished Ladies and Gentlemen, to further illustrate the importance of the Fund's partnership with the security agencies, two weeks ago, an Indian mariner fell off his cargo ship on its way out of the Lagos port. His ship mates did not notice that he had fallen overboard, and so the ship sailed on, leaving him flailing in the water. He was lucky to manage to grab and hold onto for dear life, a driftwood, but his prospects of rescue were dim. He was in the water for five hours by which time he was exhausted and had just about resigned himself to death. As luck would have it, a routine Marine Police patrol spotted him and he was rescued. Lucky I say, but sometimes luck requires some human input. Without the input of the Fund providing weekly diesel deliveries and routine maintenance and repairs for the eight gunboats under charge of the Marine police, the man would not have been so lucky. Now, he will take a positive story about Nigeria back to India with him.

The Fund also sponsors training programmes for the security agencies, dissemination of security information, and this year co-sponsored a behavorial practice programme for youths in Lagos in conjunction with Erica Licht, a Fulbright Fellow from the USA.

DECISION MAKING PROCESS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Fund, under the very focused and experienced chairmanship of Mr. Remi Makanjuola and benefiting from a very proactive Board of Trustees, has developed a very quick decision-making process, either during actual deliberations at Board meetings or, more commonly, using the internet whereby urgent requests are analysed in terms of their justification, and then a request for approval is memo'd to each member, via email, for their input. If there are no comments or demurrals within 24 hours, the request is deemed approved and the Chairman (diligently and without delay) grants approval subject to ratification at the next Board meeting. Indeed the Board has managed the Funds assets in such a manner that we are debt free, and we have stuck rigidly to the statutory requirement that the Fund should always be liquid enough to deal with contingencies, some of which arise from time to time.

To ensure that Board members are fully informed about the actual challenges, needs and true state of security in Lagos, both the Commissioner of Police and the State Director of the Department of Security Services have attended Board meetings, where the deliberations have been robust and frank, and thereafter, we have as much as possible tried to address some of the issues raised in relation to needs.

At this stage, let me do the honour of introducing the members of the Board of the Security Trust Fund. We have the Chairman, Mr. Remi Makanjuola, we have Mr. Opeyemi Agbaje, Mr. Ebenezer Onyeagwu, Mr. Timothy Bolade, Mr. Kehinde Durosinmi-Etti, Mr. Bisi Onasanya, Mr. Gbolahan Lawal, Mr. Biyi Madadeje and Mr. Waheed Olusegun Kassim (DIG Rtd.). Let me also introduce to the house the staff of the Fund who keep it running on a daily basis. We have Mr. Degbola Lewis, the administrative manager, Mrs.

Adeola Alabi, our accountant, and Mr. Michael Ayantola, the office manager.

FINANCES OF THE FUND

Our receipts this year are N257,209,257 in cash and N174,600.000.00 in kind by way of 31 vehicles and a number of flak jackets. This provides a total donation value of N431,809,257.00, down by over a hundred million from 2012. Our expenditure for 2013 has been N260 million as against 467,953,000.00 in 2012, but that is because most of the vehicles distributed to the police in 2012 were purchased directly by the Fund whereas this year, we received more vehicle donations. We end the year with about N99 million in our kitty. with a total expenditure of N259,955,996.62 though already there are outstanding requests from the Marine police for replacement of their smaller petrol engine boats which we acquired for them in 2008; from the Immigration services and the prisons. So, realistically, we are talking about an actual carry-over into the new year of about N40 million.

In addition, the Fund has, under the direction of the Board, established a sinking fund for major repairs and replacement of vehicles. We started this special fund with a deposit of N25 million, and today that investment has risen to N29 million, sufficient, we believe, to provide us with enough funds to address urgent replacement needs without recourse to our main accounts.

Included in the report at pages 12 to 30 is the audit report of expenditure for 2012 as presented by PriceWaterHouseCoopers, our external auditors and pages 31 to 33 give an overview of our unaudited expenditure for 2013.

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Ladies and Gentlemen, as I have stated, the needs of the crime fighting agencies are continuous. They need bullet proof jackets and ballistic helmets to go up against the increasingly desperate criminals, they need uniforms, boots, cold-weather gear and other kit. Indeed our desire is to ensure that every patrol team member has a bullet proof vest and helmet. A set goes for about N300,000.00 and there are at least 300 teams of five police officers and the men of OP MESA on mobile patrol at any one time. This amounts to about N450,000,000.00 but it is worth every kobo. The absence of those ballistics kits is what led to the ambush and murder of three officers attached to the Ayobo police station on the might of the 17th of November, during an attack on an ATM. It was because the men of the RRS were properly kitted and had the advantage of an APC that they were able to intervene, abort the robbery and arrest four of the attackers. This is the reality with the proliferation of small arms from the instability in Mali and Libya and Somalia.

In conclusion let me once again, on behalf His Excellency the Governor, the Board and management of the Fund and indeed the citizens of Lagos State, express our deep appreciation to our donors, especially those who have stood by us almost year on year since the early days. And let me once again appeal to the corporate institutions, professional associations and high-net-worth individuals who have yet to join the train to come on board for our collective benefit.

Thank you for listening

STATEMENT OF TRUSTEES' RESPONSIBILITIES

The Lagos State Security Trust Fund Law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year that give a true and fair view of the state of financial affairs of the Fund at the end of the year and of its surplus or deficit. This responsibility includes:

- a) ensuring that the Fund keeps proper accounting records that disclose, with reasonable accuracy, the financial position of the Fund and comply with the requirements of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund Law;
- b) designing, implementing and maintaining internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; and
- c) preparing the Fund's financial statements using suitable accounting policies supported by reasonable and prudent judgements and estimates, that are consistently applied.

The trustees accept responsibility for the annual financial statements, which have been prepared using appropriate accounting policies supported by reasonable and prudent judgements and estimates, in conformity with Nigerian Accounting Standards and the requirements of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund Law.

The trustees are of the opinion that the financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of the financial affairs of the Fund and of its surplus or deficit. The trustees further accept responsibility for the maintenance of accounting records that may be relied upon in the preparation of financial statements, as well as adequate systems of internal financial control.

Nothing has come to the attention of the trustees to indicate that the Fund will not remain a going concern for at least twelve months from the date of this statement."

REPORT OF THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE LAGOS STATE SECURITY TRUST FUND

Report on the financial statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund ("the Fund") which comprise the balance sheet as of 31 December 2012 and the statement of revenue and expenses, and statement of cash flows for the year then ended and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes.

Trustees' responsibility for the financial statements

The trustees are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Nigerian Statements of Accounting Standards and with the requirements of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund Law and for such internal control, as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an independent opinion on the financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform our audit to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the trustees, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of the Fund's financial affairs at 31 December 2012 and of its deficit and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Nigerian Statements of Accounting Standards and the requirements of the Lagos State Security Trust Fund Law and the Financial Reporting Council of Nigeria Act.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of these financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all years presented, unless otherwise stated.

(a) Basis of preparation

The financial statements are prepared in compliance with Nigerian Statements of Accounting Standards (SAS). The financial statements are presented in the functional currency, Nigeria Naira (N), and prepared on a modified cash basis under the historical cost convention.

(b) Revenue recognition

Donations are recognised when pledges are made. Revenue represents fair value of cash or in-kind donations. Value added tax is not charged on revenue.

Interest income is recognised on a time proportion basis using the effective interest method.

(c) Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are shown at acquisition cost less accumulated depreciation. Acquisition cost represents purchase price plus freight, insurance and handling charges. For assets donated to the Fund, acquisition cost represents fair value of donated assets.

Repairs and maintenance are charged to the Income and expenditure account during the financial period in which they are incurred.

Depreciation is calculated using the straight line method to write down the cost of assets to their residual values over their estimated useful lives, at the following annual rates:

Office furniture and equipment 25
Computer equipment 33
Motor vehicle 25

(d) Expenses and support to security agencies

Expenses are recognised when incurred. Support to security agencies are in kind donations and they are recognised as expenses when the receiving agency acknowledge receipt of delivery.

(e) Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value through the first-in, first-out (FIFO) basis. Cost represents purchase price and other anciliary costs directly associated with the purchase. Net realisable value is the market value less cost to sell.

(f) Accounts receivable

Receivables are recognised initially at fair value. Subsequently, they are stated after deduction of specific provision for any pledge considered to be doubtful of recovery. A provision for impairment of receivables is established when a pledge made in a particular year is outstanding up till the time the annual financial statements of that year is about to be signed off and circulated. The amount of the provision is recognised in the Income and expenditure account.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1 The Fund

The Lagos State Security Trust Fund was established in 2007 by a law of the Lagos State House of Assembly to raise and coordinate the application of donations in cash and equipment which are required to enhance the operational capacity of security agencies operating in the state. The money thus raised is to be used for the acquisition and deployment of security equipment and such human, material and financial resources as shall be found necessary for the effective functioning of all Federal, State and Local Government and other security agencies operating in the State. In addition, part of the fund shall be reserved for the training and retraining of security personnel.

LAGOS STATE COMMISSIONER OF POLICE SPEECH

INTRODUCTION

here is no contradiction that Lagos by its nature, complexity and population, has its fair share of security challenges. However, it is a thing of joy to note that the resultant despair and apathy have gradually given way to a new dawn of peace and tranquility due to sustained momentum and drive of the Lagos State Government, the Police and other stakeholders in their collective resolve to make insecurity a thing of the past in the state.

A lot has been said and written already about the unique position of Lagos State in Nigeria and the West African subregion as its economic hub. Lagos State with a population of about twenty million is fast transforming into a megacity. This new status brought with it the strong need to make security and safety a number one priority.

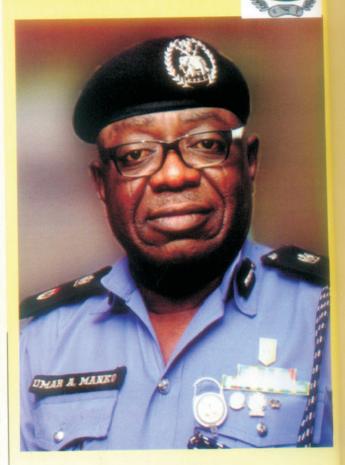

The innovative fashion of the Lagos State Government to set up a Security Trust Fund as a means of strengthening security in the state through capacity building has immensely impacted on security of lives and property in the state.

ACHIEVEMENTS RECORDED DURING THE PERIOD UNDER REVIEW

The consistent support from the state government especially through the Lagos State Security Trust Fund(LSSTF) and the Local Governments, the State Command has been able tackle the menace of crimes and criminality headlong and successfully reduced them.

These feats were made possible by the inter-agency cooperation and collaboration of all the security agencies that work for a single purpose, which is, to make the state safer irrespective of the calling of their services. This is done by way of joint operation, training, information and intelligence sharing, monthly meetings and briefings, mess gatherings etc. The pragmatic leadership offered by the Executive Governor of the State, as the Chief Security Officer has contributed immensely to the agencies working as a team.

Challenges of crimes such as kidnapping and cultism which tried to rear their ugly heads in the state have been given serious fight. Most kidnap cases were resolved as swiftly as it began and victims rescued and re-united with their families, including those perpetrated in other states of the Federation.

Some cases in point are the apprehension in Delta, Enuguand Edo States of the hoodlums behind the kidnap of the mother of a Minister of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, that of the Chairman of Ejigbo Local Council Development Area and many others.

It must however, be noted that the few cases of kidnap recorded in the state were not the same as the types witnessed in other parts of the country. Most of these cases were masterminded by house-helps and drivers, and few occasions, relations. However, with the enlightenment of the public on the need to have a background check on house-helps, drivers and/or guards, this trend is abating.

Below are excerpts of some notable achievements made by the command, within the period under review.

i. ARREST OF ARMED ROBBER/RECOVERY OF STOLEN VEHICLE

On 29/11/2012 about 1450 hours, Policemen attached to Special anti-robbery Squad, Ikeja acted on a tip off and arrested one Alhaji Taofeek Mumuni 'm', a notorious armed robber involved in killing of several Policemen/Civilians and a specialist in Bank and Bureau-De-Change robberies. The suspect confessed to have killed five Policemen at Oke-Mosan Abeokuta and Ibafo in Ogun State respectively. Two robbed vehicles an unregistered Nissan Infiniti Jeep and a Volkswagen Golf Saloon Car were recovered from the suspect.

ii. ARREST OF ARMED ROBBERS/RECOVERY OF ARMS AND AMMUNITION

On 07/12/2012 about 1500 hours, Special Anti-Robbery Squad attached to Lagos State Police Command Ikeja that acted on a tip-off, had a shootout with armed robbers in their hideout along Governor's Road, Ikotun. One of them died of bullet wound while Oyedele Yemi 'm', 25 years old, Shola Ayodele 'm', 32 years old, Seyi Aluko 'm', 33 years old, Gani Moshood 'm', 35 years old, Samuel Suleimon 'm', 28 years old were arrested. STRATEGIES USED

Some of the strategies the Command has put in place to ensure a secured environment are not only proactive in nature, but intelligence driven. These include but not limited to the following:-

- a) High visibility of Police officers on the roads;
- b) Intensive vehicular and border patrols;
- Purposive and strategic raids of criminal hideouts;
- Intensive patrol of all the waterways and the strategic deployment of Gun boats and Armoured Personnel Carriers at key locations;
- Helicopter Aerial Patrols using the two multipurpose Helicopters acquired for the Command by the Lagos State Government;
- The use of Police information boxes strategically located at various points in the state/the maintenance of a robust outfit for intelligence gathering;
- g) Proper computerization of crimes in order to enhance a high level of reportability and consequently enhance a more accurate evaluation of progress made. This has also helped to reduce the dark figure almost to zero in our crime data compilation and analysis;
- h) Training and retraining of the officers on Human Rights Principles, combat operation readiness.
- i) Dissemination of the names of officers and their phone numbers to members of the public. This has considerably enhanced information flow from the members of the public to the Police, thus, reducing the level of apathy and mistrust by members of the public and thereby improving our response time to distress calls;
- Closely related to this, is the establishment of Anti Vice Squad to monitor and regulate the conduct of the officers and men at their duty posts;
- k) Establishment/deployment of policemen to blackspots/ nipping/pindown points at strategic locations within the state

- The deployment of CTU personnel and Bomb Squad at key locations;
- m) Robust working relationship with the military and other security agencies geared towards making the state safer.

CHALLENGES/CONSTRAINTS

The achievements recorded so far are not without challenges. Society is dynamic just as crime is dynamic. As crimes are being tackled by law enforcement agencies, criminals naturally will attempt to evolve new trends/patterns to thwart the efforts being made. Indeed, no two crimes are the same; even when they are committed by the same gang, they often present organic peculiarities that make them unique.

Owing to the sophistication in the commission of crime and variations in the modus-operandi often adopted by criminals in their dastardly acts, new methodologies, strategies and approaches have to be adopted by security agencies to stay ahead of the criminals.

- One of such challenges is the menace of commercial motorcycles operators and trans-border criminals. Though the new Lagos State Traffic Law has come handy to checkmate their activities. Other challenges include:
- ii. Inadequate numbers of patrol vehicles; Lagos State Government has assisted in no small way in this area, but most of the vehicles have become rickety and worn out and as such needs to be replaced. Cost of maintenance and fuelling of available vehicles is equally a challenge;
- iii. Little or no body armour; this has contributed to a large extent in the cases of fatality on the side of the police during encounters with the men of the underworld;
- iv. Though communication has improved with the introduction of gota radio communication; however, for a more effective wider coverage, there is need to build more repeater stations;
- v. Lack of investigative tools like modern forensic laboratory, fingerprint materials, data bank, street cameras etc have continued to hamper timely resolution of crimes;

vi. Short supply of arms and ammunition;

NEEDS/WAY FORWARD

- Any futuristic internal security plan for Lagos and indeed Nigeria must involve a paradigm shift not only in terms of methodologies and strategies, but also the acquisition of modern day accourrement and critical crime fighting tools to cope with the present sophistication in crime.
- The population of Lagos is increasing daily; policing it is becoming more demanding. This will necessitate the building of more police posts, stations, steady supply of critical crime fighting tools and logistics for effective service delivery.
- iii. Security is not about police alone. It involves the collaboration, cooperation and sharing of information and responsibilities among the police, other security agencies and members of the civil society. Existing cordial relationship between security agencies in the state should not only be maintained but enhanced. Members of the public should ensure adequate information flow to security agencies.
- iv. The establishment of conflict resolution units (Ombudsman) in all the wards/local councils to resolve minor infractions before it snowballs into a conflagration is recommended.
- v. The government on the other hand should provide enabling environment for private sector driven economy. This sector would ultimately create employment opportunities for our youths, who easily go into crime and criminality because of idleness and/or joblessness. Physical and social infrastructural development must also, remain government's priority.
- vi. Like what is obtainable in other society, there is urgent need for the establishment of biometrics data bank of all Nigerians and other residents. This will provide the needed information and intelligence in aid of policing and will enable security agencies to have access to needed information at appropriate time. The recent efforts of the State Government in this direction, is commendable.

- vii. Civil Society Organizations(CSOs), Non-Governmental Organizations(NGOs) and professional bodies like NBA should partner in training and retraining of security agencies by way of seminars, workshop etc to meet the current security trend.
- viii. Equipment can only be as effective as the operators. Consequently, training and retraining of officers should be paramount at all times. Cost of training are enormous and always tasking the government purse.

CONCLUSION

Our criminal justice system should be reformed in such a manner that would guarantee faster and impartial dispensation of justice to all concerned regardless of their societal status. I want to solemnly and passionately appeal to the Directorate of Public Prosecution(DPP) to exercise constraint in throwing away or discharging cases on the slightest technical reason.

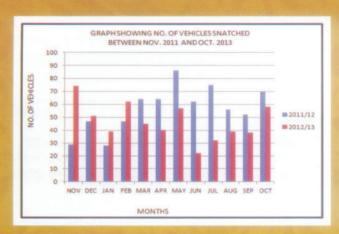

The essence of referring case files to the DPP is not only to determine culpability of the suspect(s) but to enhance criminal justice system in ensuring that desirable justice is done to the society, complainant(s)/victim(s) and the suspect(s)/accused(s).

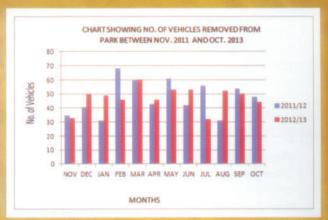

Where lacuna is noticed in police investigation, the DPP, being a professional office and/or supervisor should draw the attention of the Police to the lacuna and also suggest means of filling the chasm to guaranty justice to all. The Police will be most willing to learn from the professional advice of the DPP.

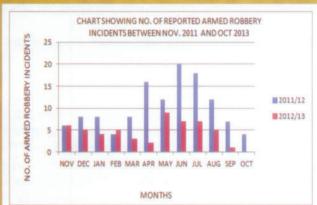

Also, criminal cases should be disposed off with minimum delay. The maxim, "Justice delayed is justice denied and "justice must not only be done, but seen to be done", should be the watch word. Appropriate and proportionate punishment be awarded at all times to guarantee the sanctity of the society and promote the Rule of law.

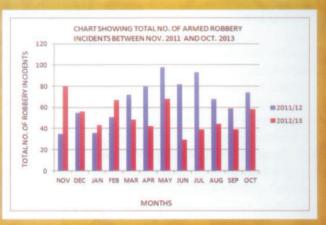

Thank you for listening.

REPORT ON THE ACTIVITIES OF OP MESA, A JOINT MILITARY - ARMY, NAVY, AND AIR FORCE SPECIAL SECURITY OUTFIT

Introduction

OP MESA is a military security outfit which provides support for civil security agencies, especially the police, in the discharge of their statutory responsibilities. OP MESA comprises officers and men of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force under the command of Brig.Gen. Adeniyi Oyebade, Commander 9 Brigade, Navy Commodore C. Ezekobe, Commander, NNS Beecroft and Air Cmdr. Sunday Wukangha, Commander Air Force 435 Base. The military are currently involved in internal security operations aimed at maintaining law and order in 27 States of the federation in line with the provisions of Section 217 of the Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria 1999. OP MESA's primary responsibility is anticrime patrols although they participate in joint raids of identified Black Spots with other agencies such as the police and SSS and in responding to distress calls.

Mode of Operations

OP MESA operates a 24 hour daily mobile and static patrols in their predetermined areas of operation which also include public infrastructure.

The State Security Council, Chaired by His Excellency the Governor Coordinates the activities of OP MESA while the state government and the Lagos State Security Trust Fund provide the required operational equipment/assets and logistics for the outfit. The Council ensures that the three arms of OP MESA function as a unit to ensure the effectiveness of the outfit.

Areas of responsibility

Army – Ikoyi, Mile 2, Badagry, Ikeja, Ogba, Ojo, Ikorodu, Mile 12, Ajah, Lagos Island,

Idi-Araba, Mushin, Surulere, Agbara and oil pipelines in the Navy – Water bodies adjoining Lagos State, Agege, Apapa, Ijora, Ajegunle and some areas of Mile 2 and Oil pipelines and tank farms in Lagos

Air Force – Ikeja, Mushin, Isolo, Apapa Ijaye, Oshodi, and Alimosho including Ikotun, Egbeda, Shasha and its environs

The Strength/Capacity

Army – 15 officers, 150 soldiers and 20 patrol vehicles Air Force – 12 officers, 120 men and 10 patrol vehicles. Navy – 8 officers, 40 men and 11 Vehicles

Effectiveness OP MESA

OP MESA has continued to provide assistance to the police in the enforcement of law and order especially in their response to distress calls. They have participated in several joint raids of "black spots" such as Mushin, Ijora Badia, Mile 12, Ikorodu, Lagos Island, Bariga, where over 2176 arrests were made.

They also respond alongside the police to distress calls and have assisted in foiling robberies. In 27 July 2013, OP MESA in joint operation with SSS raided a terrorist cell in Ijora Badia where they recovered a number of improvised explosive devices and arrested members of the group. Since then, OP MESA has participated in follow-up rids on hideouts of suspected terrorists.

Challenges/ Requirements

As is usual with such security agencies, OP MESA requires constant maintenance, replacement and even expansion of its assets (i.e. vehicles, communication equipment, ballistic gear etc.).

OP MESA is an important component of security in Lagos State and it is necessary to properly equip it for improved efficiency.
